

MOST DAMAGE IS EFFECTED IN THE RURAL DISTRICTS

In the rural districts damage from the storm that swept Washtenaw county Sunday night proved more general than in Ypsilanti, although the loss of numerous shade trees means much and is of the kind that cannot be replaced. With the exception of a few instances where barns were destroyed the most general loss was in the wrecked silos in nearly every part of the county and especially in the immediate vicinity of Ypsilanti.

John Tuttle lost 25 valuable apple trees, five large trees near the Tuttle school blockaded the roads for some time Monday morning and a number of large trees on Lewis Kelly's farm went down. Shade trees near Fred Smith's house were broken and landed on the roof of Dr. Layton's house.

Wind landed heavily on the Beyer farm. Two silos and a barn are wrecked and a little farther on a cow was killed on A. Kimmel's farm. Silos belonging to L. Casey and F. Freeman went down and on the Frank Gale farm a barn was turned on the foundation. Lewis Wilcox, one mile north of Milan lost a horse. Practically all of James Cook's trees were swept away.

Northeast of Ypsilanti silos belonging to Fred Smith, Joe Richardson, Richard Bagley on the Stewart farm and E. Holmes were all ruined, and silos on the Gillette and Reinhart farms were badly tipped and turned on the foundations.

Rural mail carriers were forced to change their routes somewhat in several instances, but none of them were materially delayed. Carrier Cook's route was swept most noticeably and there were signs on Messrs. Waters, Dunker, Beuhlan and Boutelle's routes. On Mr. Anderson's route west of Ypsilanti there was scarcely any noticeable evidence of the storm. It was out on route No. 6 that Robert Martin lost three cows when his barn was demolished. Mr. Wilson on the farm northwest of Dixboro lost six cows and a horse. Scotney Bros. barns were badly damaged and Joseph Glasson's silo and a shed were shattered. Lewis Case and Herbert Shock also lost silos.

In general there is little damage to houses. Frank Bush and Charles Meade were probably disturbed as much as anyone in this respect, both their houses having been twisted on the foundations.

The roof of the barn on the Chas. Seaman farm, where Mrs. Sarah Harris lives, was torn off. Geo. W. Crane's barn on the Freeman farm, was blown off its foundations. A shed on J. P. Cosgrove's farm was wrecked. The windmill on Marion Merritt's farm is down. The silo on David Owen's farm east of Ypsilanti was demolished. The H. P. Glover farm was a heavy sufferer.

Southeast of Ypsilanti orchards and silos were very generally wrecked. Walter Wiard suffered the loss of a new barn.

Northeast of town Charles Foster has lost a silo. Will Richter in Superior township sustained the loss of a silo, as did likewise Isaac Bumpus and David Owen. The west end of Wilmer Corkins' barn was stove in. John Barlow's new barn was blown off its foundations. The power mill of George Anderson was demolished, as was likewise that of Perry Vorce.

Cherry Hill lay out of the track of the storm.

Mrs. Hattie Gotts in Superior suffered great damage to her kitchen and pantry, windows and doors.

North of Ypsilanti on the Everett farm the windows were stove in and water washed all through the house. The L. A. Gray barn is off its foundations. The power mill on the Coryell farm, where Mr. Billinger now lives, was blown down and similar damage was done on the Griffin farm. Northeast of town the barn of the Theodore Hitchcock farm was unroofed.

Floyd Daggett's family was treated to five distinct bumps. First the chimney toppled over on the house, then the plaster fell, and close upon the other three trees came down separately on the roof of the house.

The W. L. McCullough company were extensive losers. A large portion of the north side of the older building fell in, permitting to soak thoroughly the patterns kept in this part. A few sky-lights over the moulding room were smashed. They consider their escape from further damage quite fortunate and already the repairs to the porch wall are well under way.

Webster Brothers & Sons lost the smoke-stack on their power house.

The parks paid a toll in trees. It was fairly bad in Prospect Park. One particularly large tree in Recreation Park is down, and a number of the young trees in Gilbert Park blew over. Frank Norton's north greenhouse is a wreck and the glass throughout the houses is mostly broken.

Dr. O'Gee lost a number of his good trees. E. D. Matthews on Grove street lost seven. The fine trees standing on the lots of Misses Gertrude and Adda Woodard were all uprooted and the cyclone landed them on top of the house, smashing in the roof.

Mr. Bershaw, with the savings of ten years, had built a house on Prospect hill and it was all ready for the cornice and shingles to go on. When the cyclone had passed there was no house to put a cornice and shingles on, for the house to its last board had fallen into the cellar, foundation and all. He had no insurance.

At the Peninsular Paper Mills the only damage suffered was that the roof in the heater room was taken off.

H. S. PUPILS SUGGEST CITY IMPROVEMENTS

A number of interesting suggestions have been worked out by pupils of Dr. Quillen's high school class in government as the result of their recent investigation trip about the city. A summary of the discoveries and methods suggested for improvement has been prepared and is presented in the following article:

A disaster has struck our town and injured to some extent the crowning glory of Ypsilanti, the trees. But on all sides we hear the same glorious sentiment expressed that redeemed the city of Galveston, Texas, a few years ago after it had been almost washed away by the sea, the same spirit that entered the breasts of the people of San Francisco after the horrible earthquake,—let us build anew, let us make up in other ways by stronger efforts the misfortune that

CONGRESS HILL MAY BE LOWERED AND GRAVELED

The regular meeting of the common council was held Monday evening, June 5, Mayor Towner presiding. Those present were Ald. Moore, Cornwell, Stevens, Beal, Thomas, Lewis and Huston. A number of petitions and communications were received and the routine business transacted.

A petition was presented by the residents of Congress street to cause Congress street, between Normal and Ballard, to be lowered and graveled. By motion of Ald. Stevens it was referred to the second ward aldermen.

A petition signed by a number of east side residents was presented requesting that the Ypsilanti Hide and Leather Company, which recently burned down on what is known as the Howland property, be not allowed to rebuild on its present location as the stench arising is a menace to the public health and a disgrace. The request was referred to the City Attorney to report as to power of the council in the matter.

A number of the residents of First and Second avenues petitioned to have John Perry, pound master, removed from office. This seems to be an after effect of late difficulties which Perry has encountered on the hill.

Byron J. Fosdick was appointed humane officer for the ensuing year.

The communication of John Maguire, manager of the Michigan Arboriculture Company, submitted a proposition for the preservation of the shade trees in the city was received and filed. Mr. Maguire states that he will furnish two expert men at a rate of fifty cents per hour to repair the shade trees in the public streets and parks, the tools to be furnished by the company and the city to be charged the cost price for the material used.

The committee to whom was referred the matter of removing certain nuisances on Pearson street reported that an examination of the premises had been made and that the barn was found to be in good sanitary condition, and that it was located on an alley and not on a street. The report was received and filed.

Justice Stadtmiller reported that all money collected by him for forfeitures, fines, etc., amounted to $21.55 for the month of May. His report was accepted and filed.

A recommendation for the building of a number of new sidewalks was received and the repairing of a number of the old ones was ordered.

FUNERAL OF WELL KNOWN RESIDENT WAS HELD MONDAY

The funeral of Mrs. Nettie E. Hosner, who had lived many years on the Saline road, was held Monday afternoon, Rev. H. A. Leeson, of whose church she had been a member, officiating. Mrs. Hosner was sixty years old and had survived her husband five years. She was graduated from the Normal in 1876 and had taught in several schools in this vicinity. She was married in 1881. She had no children. The interment took place in Highland cemetery.

LOBIMER PROBE TO BE THOROUGH

All Charges of Election Corruption under Close Scrutiny.

INVESTIGATORS ARE APPOINTED

Senator Kenyon of Iowa, "Trust Buster" of Department of Justice, Chosen One of Committee for Specific Purpose.

Washington, June 6.—A thorough investigation of all the charges of corruption in connection with the election of William Lorimer as a senator from Illinois is assured by the action of the senate committee on privileges and elections.

A select committee of eight senators was appointed to probe into every phase of the Lorimer charges.

Senator Kenyon of Iowa, former "trust buster" of the department of justice, was put upon the committee and will be given an opportunity to pursue his inquiry into the part which the beef trust and the lumber trust are alleged to have played in raising funds to elect Lorimer. He has been anxious for service upon the Lorimer committee because he believed that a proper investigation would disclose the fact that the beef and lumber trusts raised a huge fund to elect Lorimer.

Senator LaFollette charged on the floor of the senate that the two interests named had subscribed more than $200,000 and that Lee O'Neill Browne, Democratic leader in the Illinois legislature, disbursed more than $100,000 of this sum.

The committee authorized will be composed of the following senators: Dillingham, chairman, and Gamble, Jones and Kenyon, Republicans; Johnston, Fletcher, Kern and Lea, Democrats. Senators Dillingham, Gamble, Johnston and Fletcher voted for Lorimer when the case was before the regular session of congress and Senator Jones voted against him. Kenyon, Kern and Lea are known to be anti-Lorimer, so that the committee is evenly divided on the general merits of the case.

The case taken in the committee was in the form of a resolution, which was adopted by a unanimous vote and which Senator Dillingham was authorized to report to the senate.

It may be stated with authority that most of the sessions of the committee will be held in Washington and the witnesses will be brought here.

PUSH POMERENE RESOLUTION

Senators Say They Will Vote for It, as It Means Nothing.

Washington, June 6.—Senate leaders say that the Pomerene resolution requesting the attorney general to proceed against the individual defendants in the Standard Oil and tobacco trust cases will be passed this week. The author of the resolution, Senator Pomerene, of Ohio, intends to speak on it.

Senators point out that the resolution leaves the matter of criminal prosecution entirely within the discretion of the attorney general and it is the judgment of the leading lawyers of the senate that the resolution means nothing.

NEW MEXICAN MINISTER

Senor Zamacona to Be Succeeded by Senor Martinez.

Washington, June 6.—Senor Manuel M. De Zamacona, the Mexican ambassador to the United States, has been reappointed to his former post as financial agent of the Mexican government in London. The change was made at the ambassador's request, because of the illness of his wife, who is in a sanitarium in London.

Senor Gilberto Crespo Y Martinez, who, according to press dispatches from Mexico City, will succeed Ambassador Zamacona, was born at Vera Cruz in 1853. He is of Cuban parentage.

UNSAVORY DIVORCE SUIT

Wife Begin: Suit and Husband Makes Horrible Counter Claim.

New York, June 6.—Testimony taken in Detroit in a suit by Florence Herman for a separation from David L. Herman, an iron manufacturer, was filed here. Herman has put in a counter claim, accusing his wife of misconduct with her father, Emanuel Laufferty, and asks for a divorce.

Laufferty committed suicide in his daughter's apartments here shortly after Herman filed his counter claim for divorce.

Slain in Fight Over Dog.

Edwardsville, Ill., June 6.—George Baker was shot and killed by Henry Starnes at Collinsville, because he refused to put his own dog out of his own house at Starnes' request. Starnes escaped.

INJURED TREES SHOULD HAVE IMMEDIATE CARE

INDIANA STORM-SWEPT

Lightning Kills Two Persons and Hail Damages Growing Crops.

Indianapolis, June 6.—Rain, hail and electrical storms swept Indiana, doing great damage to outhouses and crops. John K. Power, a wealthy farmer of this county, was killed by lightning. At Lyons, Mrs. Oscar Keller was instantly killed by lightning while feeding chickens in her yard.

Mrs. W. W. Shryock of Fort Wayne, had a hymn book struck from her hand and her hand blackened by a bolt that struck Trinity church. At Anderson nearly a hundred persons were shocked in buildings of steel construction, the lightning scattering and affecting several such buildings. In some sections whole orchards were denuded of fruit and leaves by hail.

COTTON TARIFF REVISION

Representative Rainey Says that Bill Will Be Drafted Soon.

Washington, June 6.—Revision of the cotton tariff will be undertaken at this session of congress, says Representative Rainey of Illinois, chairman of the subcommittee of the ways and means committee investigating the cotton schedule.

Experts are at work and a bill will be drafted soon.

TAG DAY NETS $133

The Tag Day proceeds for the Michigan Children's Home society on Saturday amounted to $133. Mrs. Beardsley and Mrs. Curtis who were representing the society in Ypsilanti were much pleased with the spirit shown by the citizens in this city and feel very grateful to Mrs. Alice Spalsbury, president of the day, who did so much toward its success, also to the four Normal students and school children who assisted in selling tags.

Between $500 and $600 was taken in from Ann Arbor, $86 from Chelsea, $75 from Saline, $46 from Manchester, and $10 from Dexter.

DR. QUILLEN DIRECTS HIGH SCHOOL CLASS IN STUDY OF NEEDS AND PRESENTS FINDINGS FOR PUBLICATION

Many, many trees have been injured in this city by limbs being blown off, etc., and if these are not properly dressed there will be many dead trees resulting in a few years. There are a few professional tree dentists around and some people who profess to know about taking care of trees, but as the injury is so general over town and as many must of necessity be their own tree doctor, Dr. Quillen has had his class in government consult the authorities in the best books and magazine articles on tree doctoring and the following facts useful locally in our present disaster were found:

First—Many limbs have been broken off, leaving rough stubs. These should be sawed off closely and evenly with the trunk without tearing away the bark on the under side. If a proper saw is used, it is as easy to cut close as to leave a stub. If a cut is first made on the under side of the limb a foot or more from the trunk, then the limb sawed off from above, smoothly and close to the trunk, the limb will split from this lower cut and the slender stub thus left can be sawed off without tearing down any bark from below the wound.

After the removal of any branch more than two inches in diameter, the wound, if perfectly healthy, should be painted with a heavy coat of lead and oil or covered with tar, so as to exclude air, insects and fungus spores, and so prevent otherwise inevitable decay. When the cut is more than four inches in diameter, many workers prefer to tack over it a disc of sheet iron or tin, painting it both before and after putting it on.

Second—Many big limbs have broken away at the body of the tree, leaving often deep crevices in the main trunk. Generally it will be found that there is some rotten or diseased place in this hole. A hatchet, adze, ax, chisel and mallet, or a gouge, in fact, any handy tool may be used in cleaning out the wound. When this has been thoroughly accomplished, the fresh surface must be sterilized by washing with an antiseptic solution. Corrosive sublimate dissolved in water, one part to one thousand, or copper sulphate, one pound to five gallons of water, is recommended as a sterilizing solution. If the wound is a little less than bark deep, it can either be filled with tar or given a couple of coats of thick paint. If however, the cavity is deep into the trunk or limb, it should be filled with cement consisting of one part Portland cement with three parts of clean, sharp sand mixed to a thick mortar. After this has been applied and allowed to stiffen, but not to become perfectly hard, it should be faced off with thin mortar made of one part cement and one part sand, and the edge of the wound should then be painted.

Great care should be taken in all cases not to fill the cavity over the line where the bark begins to grow, because as the wound heals around the filling, the growth would in such case force it loose, allowing the rain and dampness to trickle behind it. On the other hand, if the filling is just level with the wood of the tree, the bark, in growing, will extend over it, thereby excluding absolutely all air and dampness and making a lasting piece of work.

In many cases the most difficult piece of work for the tree surgeon to perform, is the treating of a wound which is shallow, and extends some distance up the trunk or limb. Trouble is then experienced in getting the filling to stick. If wire nails are driven a few inches apart over the surface of the wound after it is ready for the cement, and of sufficient depth for the filling to cover them entirely, the operation will be a success.

Third—Many trees have been split at the forks of the main branches, as the one in Rev. Creighton's yard, but both limbs still stand. When a great limb cracks away from the trunk, threatening the admission of water and disease germs into the cleft, an iron bolt of proper length and strength is provided. An auger hole is bored through the limb a foot or two above its base, and another in line with it through the main trunk. Inserting the bolt, through both limb and trunk, the nut is screwed on as tight as possible. This brings the lips of the crack together and holds them. A wise precaution is to wash the wound with some antiseptic, as coal tar or paint, or a mixture of both. The life of a tree consists through the cambium or inner bark, and the practice so often followed, namely, of placing an iron band around a tree in order to prevent it from splitting down, often proves fatal, and should never be done.

DICKINSON FUNERAL AT 3 P. M. TODAY

The funeral of Mr. Horace Edgar Dickinson, who passed away so suddenly at his home on Oak street Sunday morning, was held at his residence on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock, Rev. C. M. Creighton officiating. The interment was in Highland cemetery.

Mr. Dickinson was born April 25, 1843, in Sodus, New York, and while a child moved to Ypsilanti with his parents. When a young man he returned to the east to take a business course in the Eastman Business College at Poughkeepsie, New York. He has been associated with his brother Charles in business and with the late Charles S. Woodard as surveyor. For the last seven years he has been city surveyor. For over forty years he has been a member of the Presbyterian church.

In 1868 Mr. Dickinson was married to Miss Cleantha Gardner, who survives him, together with their two daughters, Mrs. Frank Garrett of Los Angeles, California, and Miss Mary Dickinson of this city.

FEDERAL OFFICIALS AND MILLIONAIRE WHO WILL FIGURE IN GOVERNMENT'S PROBE OF ALLEGED LUMBER TRUST

Chicago, June 6.—The work of investigating a special federal grand jury to investigate the alleged lumber trust began June 5 before Judge K. M. Landis in the United States court here. The United States prosecuting attorney, Edwin W. Sims, is preparing evidence to be submitted to the grand jury aiming to show that the Sherman anti-trust law has been violated. Several big lumber magnates will be called to testify. An effort will be made to secure the attendance before the grand jury of Frederick Weyerhaeuser of Minnesota, the multimillionaire lumber king, who is said to have made more money out of timberlands and lumber than John D. Rockefeller made from oil. Weyerhaeuser is credited in some quarters with being richer than Rockefeller.

TUESDAY, JUNE 6, 1911

"GOD IS GOOD TO US YET."

The tornado of Sunday night set many people to thinking along lines which have more to do with tomorrow and less to do with today. Many recalled with vividness the picture of April 12, 1893. Dr. Chapman was here in the midst of a great religious revival. The Methodist church was crowded to the doors. The light suddenly went out and darkness covered the city. Then all was confusion without. The opera house and other buildings were razed. The church was not injured, and its great congregation went home with safety and gratitude.

Sunday night lurid portentous demonstrations low in the northern sky sent the churchgoers hurrying to their homes. Scarce had they time to enter and hastily close doors and windows than the electric lights flickered, once, then again, and were no more. Trees bent nearly to the earth in the teeth of the brutal blast—multitudes crashed under the strain. Roofs lifted, chimneys rolled down roofs with a roar; poles were precipitated with deadly wires upon other wires equally deadly. Currents in illuminated crucifix intensified the contrasting gloom until the heavens were again aflame with zifzag tongues of fire, while the multiplying roar of thunder watched the fury of the storm.

The timid thought of the exodus of toads, hasting as if by instinct from an impending deluge, as did the rats from the fatal lava breath of Martinique. Many carried their faith to God in prayer. The night wore on with little sleep within and with excited voices and bedrizzled patrols without, as in a storm at sea, with the flotsam and jetsam in wild confusion on the shore.

At dawn, when God's daylight once more permitted a perspective, the verdant growth of the earth seemed yet crouched in fear. The sound of saws and axes and the creaking of dislocated limbs told of the clearing away of the wreckage. And as our citizens, dazed at the delirium of debris, came to realize how little of life and limb and treasure had been sacrificed, the sentiment of most seemed aptly expressed by a grateful woman who exclaimed to her neighbor, "God is good to us yet."

HORACE E. DICKINSON.

The passing of Horace E. Dickinson removes from the city's activities one of the most loyal and trustworthy officials. His service as city surveyor has been as his life—a patient, painstaking performance of each day's duty as it arrived. He brought to bear in even things trivial his wide knowledge of the city and its people, covering a long stretch of fully half a century. In the establishing of party lines, he took the trouble to consult all parties in interest, hear all the evidence, reconcile differences oftentimes when no one else could. His intimate familiarity with the city's monuments as its surveyor for many years and as the chief assistant of his predecessor in office, the late Charles S. Woodward, created an asset in his equipment which the city will find it difficult to preserve at par.

The same serious attention to all of life's problems found him on duty, whether in the church, in the home or in the street. And he passed from this life as he passed through it—ready and waiting at duty's door.

OXFORD, June 6.—The W. F. M. S. meets Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Sarah Eddie.

The cyclone that struck Dixboro Sunday evening did a large amount of damage. The barns on Robert Martin's and Fred Rice's farms were blown to the ground and cattle and horses killed. John Quackenbush and Wm. Tate's silos were destroyed. Telephone poles, trees and roofs of houses were blown down.

County Treasurer Herbert Crippen and family were caught in the storm Sunday evening and obliged to remain all night at Chas. Mead's.

Mrs. Fred Stuart entertained her sister, Mrs. Roarbacher, of Hamburg last week.

Mrs. Rob Shankland of Ann Arbor was out to attend the funeral of her sister's little girl, from Detroit last Friday.

The eighteen months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ammerman of Detroit was brought to Dixboro for interment last Friday. Short services were held at the grand parents, Ransom Stuart's, Rev. Meally conducting them.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Manly spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. F. Covert, in Ann Arbor.

HOME OWNER'S IDEAL
REALIZED IN YPSILANTI
(By H. D. Rothwell)

Winner of a Special Award in Home Site Contest.
Collectively the home is the nucleus of civilization. Ownership stimulates the sense of responsibility, incites an interest in public affairs, and inspires a feeling of local pride and patriotism. Other things being equal home owners make better citizens than renters.

In buying a home certain essential conditions should be carefully considered. These may be classified as:
Occupation or employment. Staple commodities of home consumption, produced in the vicinity.
Educational and religious advantages, and moral influences.

Public and private enterprise, and sanitary conditions. Civic righteousness, and political trustworthiness of the local newspapers.

Recreations and social fellowship. Geographical position with reference to climate and commercial importance. Present and prospective real estate values.

H. S. PUPILS SUGGEST

ry back with them to their homes far and near nothing but the best memories about the city of Ypsilanti.

During the week of the encampment there will throng our streets and public places thousands of visitors. The impressions of our city which will form in the minds of the visiting throngs as they go about will be lasting ones which they will carry back with them, and which will inspire them to speak words of recommendation or criticism according as they find our city.

Are we prepared for inspection by an observing host of visitors?

The appearance and beauty of our city should be at its best. No pains should we spare, to attain that end, not one of the few remaining days should we let pass without some definite progress in the work of beautifying Ypsilanti. If we are wanting a bigger and a better Ypsilanti let us accept this opportunity, the opportunity of our life, to advertise.

Mr. Quillin's class in city government of the high school is interested in seeing things look right for this big occasion and so have taken the pains to make a thorough investigation. Last week Monday they made an automobile trip of twelve miles through practically all the streets of the city and saw the things that so many thousands will see for the first time during the three days of the encampment. They considered that it was the proper thing for private families to have a little housecleaning before the arrival of "company" so was it proper for a city to have special housecleaning before the arrival of city guests. It not only gives self-respect to the host but shows courtesy to, and pride in, the guests. Further they observed that people about to entertain guests did not sit down to praise themselves on how good things looked but proceeded to look up the dusty places and the cob-webs. The class proceeded to look for the city cob webs and it stands ready to help remove them also.

First we will state the unsightly things that we saw and then we will humbly offer our suggestions as to how they may be improved. We offer these words and suggestions in the same spirit in which interested children of a private family about to entertain guests would point out things to their good mother, and we hope they will be accepted in the spirit that the mother would most probably show, especially when she saw her children stand ready to help do the work.

In the business part of town, where our guests will spend the most of their time, we saw the dilapidated building known as "The Ark." Possibly we have grown used to its appearance or learned not to look at it, but it will make a lasting impression upon our visitors unless it is improved. Could not at least this much be done to it, remove the signs, nail up the loose boards, give it a coat of whitewash or cheap paint, and keep the second-hand furniture, broken chairs, stoves, etc., from in front of it? Almost the same criticism and suggestion will hold for the old house on the corner of Congress and Adams streets, opposite the opera house.

Alongside of both these old buildings are bill-boards fully in keeping with the distressed appearance of the buildings. What can be done to these? We think they ought to be removed, but this is hoping for too much. Could their owners not be prevailed upon to donate them to the city for the few days of the encampment? Then they could be nicely papered with plain paper, "Welcome to Ypsilanti," and other hearty greetings be painted upon them, and then draped with bunting in the national colors. Would that not impress the visitors more favorably with the fact that we are a cultured community, a college town, a proper place for the sending of their sons and daughters and a beautiful place for them to come and live? If the owners of the boards would not offer their services to the city would it not pay the city to rent them for that time?

Another thing that can be done for the looks of the business section of the town is for the merchants to obey Ordinance No. 36 which forbids them to display their merchandise in front of their stores for more than three feet immediately out from the edge of the store. A large amount of wire-fencing and vehicles were next to the curbing in front of Sanderson and Son's store; vehicles in front of Dawson's feed store, Carpenter's hardware, Foerster's hardware store, Nisly's department store, Howe's farm implement store, Wilcox's and Edwards' second-hand stores, Cook's livery had many buggies and carriages standing in front of it which is expressly prohibited by Ordinance No. 36; the barber shops and several stores had their signs and bulletin boards next to the curbing; this also is prohibited by the above mentioned ordinance. We can depend upon the business men to do their part in this work of making things look well for the city, when the time comes, because they can easily see what it means.

As we journeyed away in the automobiles from the business part of the city we soon found that the business men were not the only sinners who had things to set right. In many places we found the streets lined with weeds between the curbing and the sidewalks, grown up to look like roads in a country town. Everywhere we found the vacant lots grown up with weeds and showing a totally neglected state. An empty, unrented house, and there were several, could be told a square away generally by the tall weeds blocking the entrance to them. Shall we let these advertisements against the town stand during the presence of our visitors? The worst looking lots were found at the south end of Huron street, the one along side of the opera house on Adams street (this one is really awful and it will be passed by thousands of people because of its central location); the yard around the gas plant on Forest Avenue; the southwest corner of Adams and Ellis streets; the vacant lot at the corner of Congress and Ballard streets; the old tennis court yard on Ballard street between Pearl and Ellis. The lot on East Congress street where the old Congress hotel was burned still greets the travelers on the interurban line with the same unsightly face it wore the morning after the fire. Could not the wavering walls of this be torn down and the bricks and litter be piled up in respectable shape? Many people will drive along beautiful Forest Ave. Might they not be spared the discomfort of passing the ruins of the recently burned tannery by the Huron river?

If the class made any mistakes in taking the above notes it may have been due to the hearing of the automobiles as they went over some of the rough streets. Almost all of the unpaved streets of the city need improvement but this can not be accomplished before the reunion. We think that by all means Congress street, east and west, Washington street, and West Cross street ought to have the low places filled in with gravel and the cross walks have gravel put on each side of them so as to lessen the suddenness of the jolt. The worst place we found in the entire city was at the corner of Normal and Cross streets.

To sum up this investigation, and in order that we may get something tangible before the people so that we may make of Ypsilanti "The City Beautiful" the class in government of your high school, composed of seventeen of your boys and girls, offers the following suggestions:

First—That a big committee be organized at once to devise ways and means for improving the appearance of Ypsilanti for the coming of the G. A. R. That this committee be composed of representatives of the city council, the Ypsilanti Industrial association, the Michigan State Normal College, the Cleary Business College, and the high school class in government will be glad to send some humble working members to this committee. This committee may seem large, but there will be plenty of work for it to do, plenty of problems to solve, and plenty of chance to see big results.

Second—The class would suggest that Monday, June 19, be strongly emphasized as polishing up day, when every citizen will exert himself to do his patriotic duty to the fullest extent, and if his next door neighbor is a poor old widow who has not the strength to cut the grass in her yard, that he will step over and do it for her and for the good of the city.

Third—That for this one time anyhow we all get together as one big happy family and see how much we can do individually for the welfare of the town collectively in getting our city in shape for the coming of the grandest army of the republic.

We are ready to work for you?

DEVELOPMENTS OF INTEREST IN HEARING OF PETITIONS

The hearing of Petitions for Naturalization before Circuit Judge Kinne developed a situation that should make all persons not citizens sit up and listen, if they do not wish to have much annoyance and in many cases unnecessary expense. There are many hundred cases in the country of men who were born in Europe or Canada, who came to the United States with their parents. There are a number of such who occupy township villages and city positions who are not citizens. The law was amended June 25, 1910, so that those who were in this position, viz who believed in good faith that their fathers had completed their citizenship before they, (the sons), were twenty-one years of age could petition for Naturalization, without making the usual necessary Declaration. Now the matter of "good faith" was gone into very fully in a way that was rather awkward for some of the Petitioners who acknowledged that they had known or suspected their not being citizens for some time, but had not taken immediate steps to petition for citizenship. The testimony showed that there had been illegal voting, and the Examiner intimated that he was astonished to think that the election officers should permit such persons to register or vote, without steps being taken for their apprehension. The examiner expressed himself very strongly, in fact he protested against the admission as a citizen of one prominent man, because after he had found out that his father had not taken his full papers before he was 21 years of age, had put off for two years, before taking steps himself.

Another matter, which has come up so often, is the importance of having citizens as witnesses. Two petitioners were knocked out because one of their witnesses were not citizens although they thought they were. Any one who has doubts as to his citizenship should examine his condition very carefully, as some day they will in Michigan, like in other states prosecute for illegal voting. If an election were close, such as a proposition to make the county dry, or for a candidate then if it were shown that enough illegal votes had been cast to nullify the result the court would throw out the election.

Another thing is often lost sight of is that that only those who have made their Declarations before May 8th, 1892, can vote on their declarations. There are a number in this county, who have overlooked this and are voting. They are liable to prosecution.

Mrs. Emily Keavy who has conducted the Bazarette at 106 Congress street for the past few years, will remove her stock to the vacant store in the George Block formerly occupied by T. Michos. The change will probably take place about the first of July.

GRACEFUL AND ATTRACTIVE WOMEN.

If you are thin and want to be plump; if you have wrinkles in your face that you are not proud of, if your skin is sallow or subject to pimples or blackheads take MI-O-NA stomach tablets for two weeks and notice the change.

Nine tenths of the thin people are thin because the stomach is not active; it is not mixing thoroughly with the natural digestive juices the food put into it, and consequently is not extracting from the blood to distribute to every part of the body. If the stomach does not do its work properly the nourishment in the food you eat is passed along without giving to the body any flesh building elements.

MI-O-NA stomach tablets quickly build up the stomach so that it extracts from the food all the elements necessary to form good solid flesh.

If you are thin try a two weeks' treatment of MI-O-NA stomach tablets; two with each meal will work wonders.

MI-O-NA stomach tablets are guaranteed to cure indigestion, acute or chronic, or money back. Sold by Duane Spaulsby and druggists everywhere, at 50 cents a box.

A DISTURBED FESTIVAL.

Within the woods I strolled one day;
One Maytime morning fair;
And chanced upon a festival
The birds were holding there.

A bluebird sat upon a bough
Of Hawthorne, white with bloom.
While near him perched his modest mate
They sang a merry tune.

A tiny sparrow on the ground
With perky head one side,
Now twittered forth his single note
And thrilled with conscious pride.

A bob-o-link with jaunty air
Poured forth a rush of song
A red-bird in gay plumage looked
In silence on the throng.

A little wren, in modest brown,
Now sang a carol sweet,
It seemed as if the whole wood rang
With melody complete.

A robin with his saucy chirp
Sat swaying to and fro.
A catbird with his plaintive call
Made answer, soft and low.

Just then a caterpillar fat,
Came crawling into sight.
The festival was ended then.
The birds began to fight.

To gain possession of the worm,
Each greedily did try.
The sparrow captured him alive!
Now shall I tell you why?

A moral in my tale you'll find
For it is better not
To seek a seat exalted, but
Be "Johnny on the Spot!"

WHAT I WENT THROUGH

Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it had worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish my letter."—MRS. NATHAN B. GHEATON, 61 N. Main Street, Natick, Mass.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Help for All

Andrew Carnegie once suggested as an epitaph for his own tombstone what he said was the secret of his success: "Here lies a man who surrounded himself with men abler than himself."

Many able people are working for you, scientists, inventors, manufacturers, all trying to make something you want. Do you use their brains and their efforts—"surround yourself with them"—or do you plod along by yourself, years behind the times?

Take your own home. Have you your share of modern improvements there—money-saving, labor-saving, health-promoting? One of the most important of these is a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

A New Perfection stove never overheats a kitchen. It saves your strength. It saves fuel and time. With the New Perfection oven with the glass doors you can go on with your ironing or any other work, and still be sure at a glance the joint is roasting properly.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handily finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc. Dealers everywhere; or write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the Many an Ypsilanti Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Ypsilanti readers.

John P. Burkheiser, 15 W. Congress St., Ypsilanti, Mich., says: "I had more or less trouble from my back and kidneys for some time and there was often a constant, dull ache across the loins that made it difficult for me to stoop. That my kidneys were disordered and the cause of my trouble was shown by irregular passages of the kidney secretions. When I chanced to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Weinmann-Matthews Co.'s drug store and upon using them as directed received great benefit. This remedy acted as a tonic to my kidneys and made me feel better in every way. There is no question about Doan's Kidney Pills living up to the claims made for them."

SPORTING NEWS

AD WOLGAST IS REAL CHAMPION

Recent Battles Prove He Is Tough Nut to Crack.

MORAN HIS NEXT OPPONENT.

Little Englishman Is Scheduled to Meet the Title Holder in Twenty Round Bout in Frisco July 4—Battle Should Be a Warm One.

Ad Wolgast's impressive victory over Frankie Burns in San Francisco recently strengthens the general belief that he is the real lightweight champion of the world. Burns, a fairly clever, game boy, put up a desperate fight, but was outclassed and received a terrible beating. In this bout Wolgast showed better skill and form than ever before. He took many dangerous punches on the jaw and at one time dropped to his knees, only to keep on hammering until his antagonist was helpless.

This victory, following the stopping of "One Round" Hogan in two rounds in New York and the defeat of George Mennis and Anton La Grave in California, has increased Wolgast's reputation and has convinced many ring experts that he is not a counterfeit title holder or "cheese champion," as the disappointed Battling Nelson nicknamed him a year ago.

Wolgast has proved conclusively that he can take punishment and can hit. He is not a fancy dancing master, but a rough, strong rusher who is constantly trying to put over a knockout blow. It is apparent now that the lightweight champion wasn't at his best when he shaped up with K. O. Brown in Philadelphia and in New York. Wolgast in those bouts did not show the aggressiveness that since has materialized.

It is possible that he was afraid to take chances with his left arm, which had been broken, and, furthermore, his rather poor showing may have been due to rustiness caused by a long lay-off. But Wolgast was another man in his most recent fight, and when Burns' second had thrown up a towel hundreds of spectators declared that the champion was the best lightweight on top of the earth.

This opinion probably grated on the nerves of Owen Moran, the English boxer, who sat within a few feet of the ropes and watched Wolgast like a hawk. Moran and Wolgast are matched to fight twenty rounds in the same ring on July 4, and in the opinion of good judges Wolgast will have the hardest battle of his career. Moran is not only a first class boxer, but he is a rugged fighter with unlimited grit, a hard punch in either hand and much experience. He knocked Nelson out in eleven rounds last fall and promptly challenged Wolgast, but the latter avoided the making of a match for several months until public opinion forced him to acknowledge the sturdy Briton.

Moran boxed six rounds with Wolgast in New York several years ago and outpointed him so easily that the spectators held their sides and laughed. That is why Moran believes that Wolgast will be an easy mark. But Moran may learn that Wolgast is a far different proposition this time, though it is readily conceded that Moran on past performances has a royal chance to win.

How to Stop Heavy Batting.

If this howl against free hitting goes on suggestions like the following will be in order:

Allow the pitcher to stand eight inches from the home plate when he delivers the ball.

Make the batters swing with bat-pins.

Blindfold men like Cobb, Mitchell, Bates, Lajoie, Crawford, Schulte, Collins and Speaker.

Call batsmen out on one strike.

Give batsman his base on a dozen balls.

Make the teams play on a twenty-run-or-no-count basis.

Cut out singles and two baggers. If a batter can't get as far as third base on his hit disqualify him.

Count swats over the fence as sacrifice hits.

Cornell Queen of College Waters.

COMING SPORT EVENTS

The annual meeting of the National Power Boat association will be held in Detroit on Aug. 4.

America will not get the Olympic meet of 1916. The international committee gave the event to Berlin.

The individual championship will be at stake in the tournament to be given by the Golf Association of Philadelphia on June 3, 7, 8 and 10.

Athletes representing twelve colleges will compete in the Intercollegiate Swimming association championships at Travers island, New York, on June 17. The original date was set for some time in July, but was later changed to suit the colleges.

An Excellent Program.
A large congregation at the First Baptist church Sunday evening listened to a program of compositions by Professor Frederick H. Pease, under the direction of Miss Lucile Ross, who is doing thoroughly good and interesting work with the Baptist choir.

The chorus rendered Mr. Pease's Te Deum and "I'm a Pilgrim" in a truly inspired and appreciative manner. Miss Ross was never in better voice than in singing the solo, "He is There," the tender and noble quality of this song being simply revealed by her sympathetic rendition.

Postponed Again.
The graduating recital of William Reyer, who was to have been assisted by Minor White, announced for Monday evening at Normal Hall was necessarily postponed because of the electric lighting being out of commission. The date on which this recital will take place cannot yet be determined, but will as soon as possible be announced.

Picnic Supper.
The Pi Kappa Sigma sorority of the Normal will give a picnic supper and dancing party at the Country Club Thursday evening in honor of Miss Marguerite Showerman whose marriage is being celebrated.

ECZEMA CURE A BEAUTY WASH
Although D. D. D. Prescription has been recognized for years as the one remedy for Eczema, Psoriasis and all other forms of skin diseases, it is now known that there is no other wash, even those used by the beauty specialists, that can compare with this mild liquid for cleansing the skin of pimples, blackheads, rash, and all similar skin affections.

For this reason alone, a bottle of D. D. D. should be kept on hand in every household. A trial 24c bottle will show you the merits of this great remedy as a complexion wash.

D. D. D. seems to remove the cause, whatever the trouble may be, cleansing the skin, and leaving it as soft, as smooth and clear as that of a healthy child.

Get a 25c bottle today and keep it in the house.

AT THE YPSILANTI
Opera House
Splendid! Fine! Excellent! were the expressions and many more coming from the patrons of the Opera House who were fortunate enough to hear John Ennor in his dramatic offerings of the outer world dealing with the great Salt Lake regions. Really you could hear your own heart beat.

Never in the history of the city have there been such vivid illustrations and expressions of thought, coming from a master mind ripe in worldly experience, so rapid that you receive at the hands of this classic entertainer a solid two-hours' show in thirty minutes.

Should the patronage continue to increase, standing room will be at a premium before the end of the week.

The Opera House was well filled last night with some of the best people of the city; the management wishes to state that this attraction was secured at a great expense, giving the people a high metropolitan classic treat and really a dollar show for five and ten cents.

Don't miss the Opera House and John Ennor, every afternoon and evening this week. Change of program daily.

The vaudiville acts on the same bill last night were far ahead of the usual making in all one of the finest classic shows of the season. Don't miss the Opera House tonight to see Golden Gate, Frisco, and the notorious Chinatown by the celebrated traveler, John Ennor.
